Leonardo da Vinci

Leonardo's "Vitruvian Man" is a symbol of the geometry of the human form. Many relate this image to the Mathematical 'Golden Ratio' of proportions. However, Leonardo's image does not follow these exact proportions.

Vitruvian Man Activities

- Print a copy of 'Vitruvian Man' activity sheet.

Drawing Activity:

- Draw your own representations of the human form within the circle and square.
- Use the wooden figure to help you sketch the correct proportions.

Digital Art Activity:

- You could repeat this activity using digital photography. Edit and layer your photographs using photo editing software to construct your own "Vitruvian Man" or "Vitruvian Woman" image.
