

Life Cycle of a Mosquito

Life Cycle of a Mosquito

Metamorphosis

Definition:
The change in form from one stage to the next in the life cycle of an organism.

The mosquito lays eggs in a clump that floats on the surface of the water, like a raft.

The pupa and larva stages of a mosquito's life are spent just under the surface of the water.

